rich in history

Founded in 1933 on the banks of the Toms River in Pine Beach, New Jersey, the school is named after Admiral David Glasgow Farragut, the first U.S. Naval officer to rise to that rank. The St. Petersburg campus opened in 1945 on the shores of Boca Ciega Bay and is the only campus open today. Through an act of Congress, the Upper School is designated as an Honor Naval school and those students participate in our Naval Jr. ROTC program.

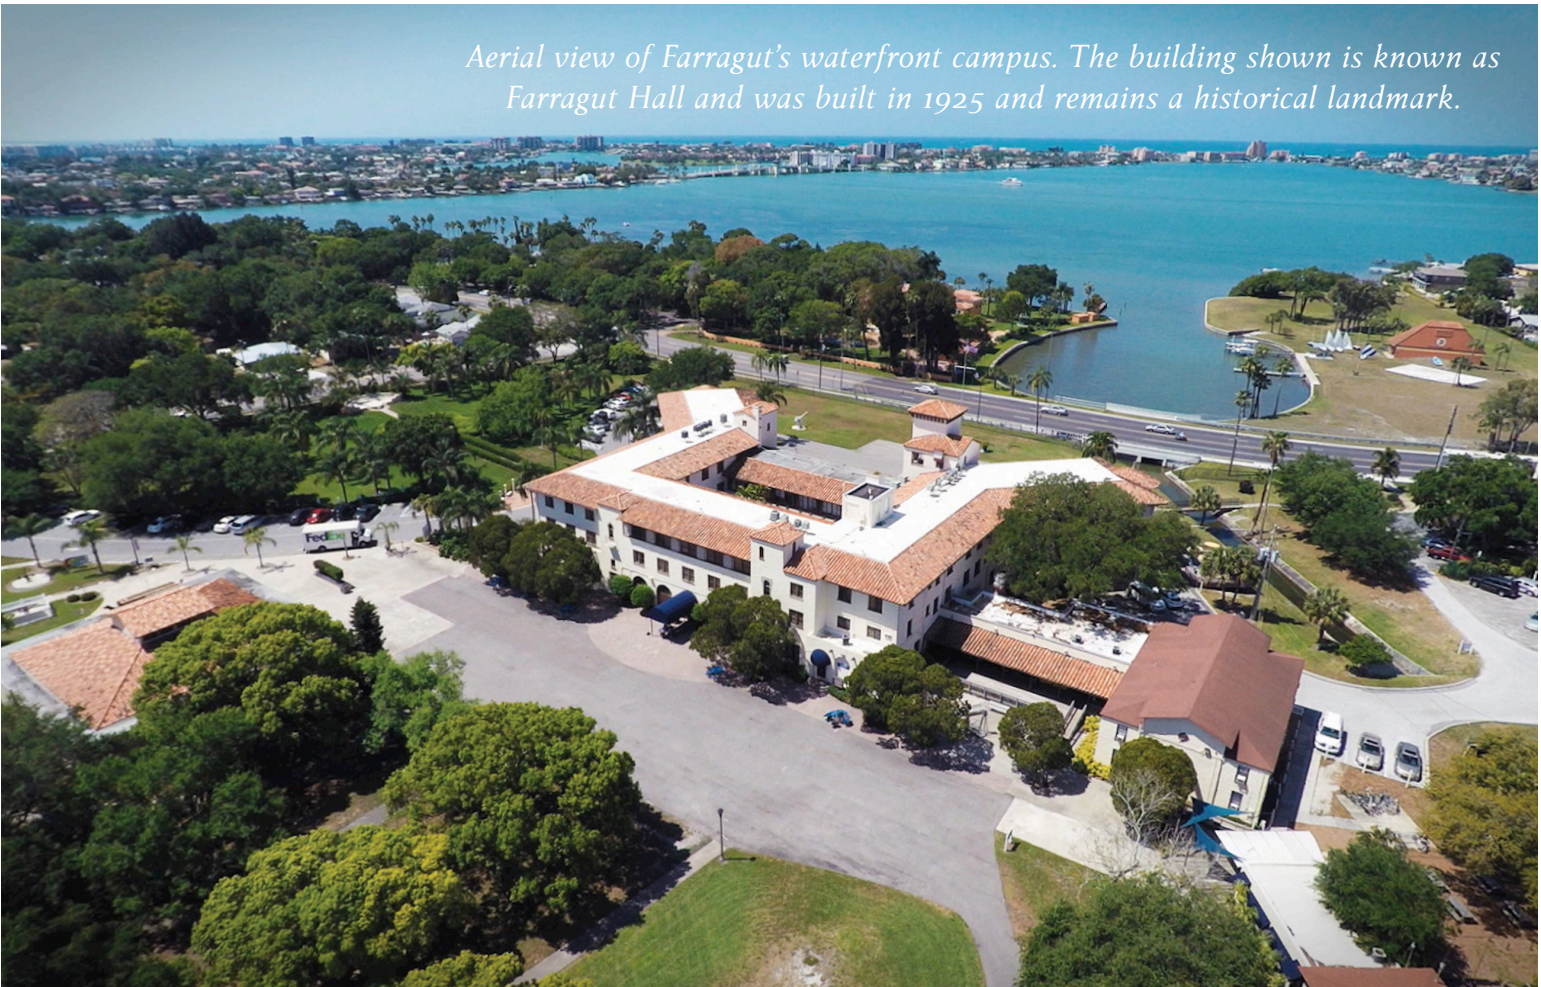

the farragut experience

The combination of invaluable academic and life lessons learned at Farragut create what our alumni call The Farragut Experience. We prepare graduates to be critical thinkers ready to succeed, even in careers that do not currently exist. To that end, Farragut has graduated two of the twelve moon-walking astronauts, Alan Shepard '41N and Charlie Duke '53S, along with national leaders in business, philanthropy, and the military.

Curriculum

- Our Lower School curriculum nurtures children from kindergarten until 7th grade. It lays the groundwork for students to be able to digest, retain and expand upon the rigorous college prep curriculum they will master in the Upper School. With the diversity of individual learning styles, our curriculum incorporates audio, visual, and tactile opportunities that enrich the fundamentals of our program.
- Our Upper School curriculum is college preparatory with an emphasis placed on STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math). Students have a wide variety of options between Honors, Advanced Placement, and Dual Enrollment courses, as well as AP Capstone. Our Academic Profile is the best way to see an overview of courses offered.

Tutorials and Study Hall

- Daily tutorials before and after school.
- Nightly study hall for boarders.
- Our Student Center houses our Center for Academic Success where staff work individually to assist in various learning differences for all grades.

Farragut alumnus Greg Ransone '81S continues the Farragut Legacy with his children

Dating back to the mid 70s (1974 to be exact) through now, Admiral Farragut Academy has seen its fair share of changes and evolution. As a member of the St. Petersburg campus' first sixth grade class established during the 1974-75 school year, I feel this is especially true. One thing that has not changed is that Farragut continues educating and charting life courses for young men and women leaders. I find myself very fortunate to be rejoining the Farragut Family for a second time in a new capacity as a parent to two new members of the classes of 2023, my son Will, and 2026, my son Greg Jr.

Alumni and students have a common understanding and bond, that our time spent at Farragut is unique and special. The late Senator and retired Navy CAPT, John McCain, reminds us, "Our shared values define us more than our differences. And acknowledging those shared values can see us through our challenges today if we have the wisdom to trust in them again."

Farragut is the place we trace the roots of who we are today and the place we built the confidence that allows us to meet life's challenges with a positive attitude to achieve the goal. It's a community where we began to forge our character, instilled with integrity and self-discipline, that is required for the course ahead. Now, years later as a parent, I've gained a firsthand account of how meaningful the commitment my parents made for me. They wanted me to have the best education to prepare me for the life ahead, and Farragut offered those opportunities for success.

Being a part of the Farragut journey again is inspiring, as the educational opportunities are unmatched to the time I was a cadet. It is exciting to see these students have the exposure to programs I could have never dreamed of when I was a cadet, such as aviation, scuba, and drones. The legacy of strong core values is still instilled in today's cadets which makes me very proud.

It is an exciting time to witness my boys getting the opportunity to build themselves into the young men that we have always hoped our children would become.

For me, continuing the Farragut Legacy is the truest example of coming full circle.

Go BlueJackets!
