FINANCIAL INFORMATION

PROVIDING FINANCIAL INFORMATION

What financial information does the FAFSA ask for?

- The FAFSA asks for financial information, including balances of savings and checking accounts and information from tax forms.
- For the 2018–2019 FAFSA, you'll need 2016 tax information.
- If you don't have your tax information, it's okay to use estimated income and tax information, but you'll have to go back after filing your taxes to update that information.
- The FAFSA also asks you to report untaxed income.
- Untaxed income includes child support received, payments to tax-deferred pensions, veterans noneducational benefits, disability benefits, and worker's compensation.
- The IRS Data Retrieval Tool (IRS DRT) will save you time and effort!

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

How does the IRS Data Retrieval Tool (DRT) work?

- The IRS DRT takes you to the IRS website, where you'll log in by providing your name and other information exactly as you provided it on your tax return.
- Your tax information will be transferred to your FAFSA.
- When you return to the FAFSA, questions that are populated with tax information will be encrypted for security purposes.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Students or parents in these situations can't use the IRS DRT and must enter their tax return information manually:

- Married and filed as Married Filing Separately
- Married and filed as Head of Household
- Had a change in marital status since 2016
- Filed a Puerto Rican or foreign tax return

Why should I use the IRS DRT tool for the FAFSA?

- You won't have to search your entire house to find your tax records!
- You don't have to worry about making mistakes entering your tax information.
- If you use the IRS DRT, you may not need to provide tax transcripts if you're selected for verification.

LISTING SCHOOLS

WHICH SCHOOLS ARE IN YOUR FUTURE?

How do I send my FAFSA to schools and programs I want to apply to?

- The schools you list will receive your FAFSA information automatically and determine what amounts of aid you may be eligible for.
- You can list up to 10 schools online and up to four on your paper FAFSA.
- The order of your list does not matter for federal aid, but may matter to certain states. See your state's requirements.
- The schools you list won't be able to see any other schools on your list.

Where can I find more information?

- More information can be found here.

SIGNING FAFSA

SIGNING THE FAFSA

• How do I sign and submit my FAFSA?

- You must sign and submit your FAFSA before it can be processed.
- Your FSA ID acts as your legal signature.
- Make sure that everything on your FAFSA is correct and complete because your school may ask you to verify some of the information.
- Once you see your confirmation page, you'll know you've successfully submitted your FAFSA.
- If you provided an e-mail address, you'll automatically receive the confirmation page by e-mail.

What if I don't have an FSA ID?

- If you don't have a FSA ID, you are required to mail a signature page.

AFTER FILING THE FAFSA

SIX THINGS TO DO AFTER FILING THE FAFSA

AFTER FILING THE FAFSA

• I SUBMITTED MY FAFSA. NOW WHAT?

Congrats! You did it! You're on your way to forming your future. For step one, you'll review your Student Aid Report (SAR).

- Your SAR summarizes the FAFSA data you submitted.
- You'll get it within three days if you signed online or three weeks if you mailed a signature page.
- You can print your SAR by logging into FAFSA.gov with your FSA ID and clicking on the appropriate school year.
- You can also check the status of your application if you haven't yet received it.
- Make sure all the information is correct!

AFTER FILING THE FAFSA

For step two, you'll review your Expected Family Contribution (EFC) number.

- Appears in the box at the top of the first page of your SAR, under your SSN.
- Is a measure of your family's financial strength.
- Is calculated according to a formula established by law.
- It determines your eligibility for the Federal Pell Grant

AFTER FILING THE FAFSA

How do schools use my EFC?

- Schools use it to determine your federal student aid eligibility and your financial aid award.
- Remember that your EFC is not the amount of money your family will have to pay for college, nor is it the amount of federal student aid you will receive.
- If you have questions, you can ask your school's financial aid office.

AFTER FILING THE FAFSA

For step three, you'll make corrections if you need to.

- Make sure that everything on your FAFSA is correct and complete because your school may ask you to verify some of the information. If you used the IRS DRT, that information will appear encrypted on your SAR.
- You must wait for your most recent FAFSA submission to process before you can update or make corrections to your FAFSA. That process usually takes about three days.

AFTER FILING THE FAFSA

For step four, you'll review your financial aid history.

- The last page of your SAR includes information about your financial aid history, specifically the student loans you've taken out.
- Keep track of how much you're borrowing and understand the loan's terms and conditions.
- You can always access your financial aid history by logging into My Federal Student Aid using your FSA ID.

AFTER FILING THE FAFSA

For step five, double check with your schools.

- After you've reviewed everything, double check with the financial aid offices at the schools you applied to.
- Sometimes schools need additional paperwork or have other deadlines.
- You don't want to leave any money on the table!

AFTER FILING THE FAFSA

Finally, be prepared if you're selected for verification.

- Your school uses this process to confirm that the data reported on your FAFSA is accurate.
- If you're selected, provide the documentation requested by the school's deadline, or you won't receive aid.
- If you use the IRS DRT, you may not need to provide tax transcripts if you're selected.
- If you didn't use the IRS DRT, your school may require you to submit a tax transcript.
- You can find your tax transcript through the IRS's Get Transcript service.
